

Supporting and promoting the art of fashion, the culture of fashion, the future of fashion

Middlesex University - March 2005

Home | Sitemap | Search:  / Advanced Search | Contact Us | About This Site | Jobs

Subjects and Qualifications

Research and Expertise

How to Apply

University Life

About the University

Business and Services

About the University

- + Our mission
- Our future
- + Governance and Executive
- + Policy statements
- Freedom of Information Act 2000
- + Awards and recognition
- + Partners and friends
- + Alumni community
- Essential Contacts
- + Campus factfile
- + Schools
- Services
- Jobs
- + News
  - Selected news item
- + Events

Order a prospectus

Fashion students selected as finalists for national competition

March 2005

Two of our third year Fashion students have been selected as finalists for this year's FAD (Fashion Awareness Direct) competition.

This year's brief is based on Russian culture and is centred on St Petersburg and Moscow, two cities with dramatically differing cultures and heritage, and on the Ballet Russes, an art form which has transmitted so much about Russian culture to the West.

Waldemar Kraus has designed a selection of womenswear and Lucy Beeden a selection of menswear for the competition. The presentation of finalists will take place on Tuesday 15 March at the Delfina Studios in central London.

One of Lucy's

- Find out more about Studying Fashion at Middlesex
- See more of Lucy's and Waldemar's designs at the Fashion Awareness Direct Competition website

Content owner: Corporate Communications
Please email the author of this page if you find information of date or insufficient
© Middlesex University