

Supporting and promoting the art of fashion, the culture of fashion, the future of fashion

POSTED BY PORTOBELLO SPY AT 17:06 0 comments

Fashion Awareness Direct

Felipe Nascimento

The next show was F.A.D. which showcases the talents of young inner city London teens, with the help of the staff from CSM. After the show the designers were presented with prizes, Felipe Nascimento scooped the Fashion Forward Design prize, Grace Wales Bonner took the Research award, and Emily McShane walked away with a gong for Creativity. With so much talent on display it was no wonder the panel choose two overall winners, Kusheda Mensche who's 70's teal jumpsuit earned her a placement helping at next season's shows at VFS; and Aysha Simpson who's design earned her a placement with fashion designer Elspeth Gibson. So thats the two hottest shows of the day, and they were both held at the Vauxhall Fashion Scout, which is by far showing the most cutting edge collections this week.

Labels: london fashion week, vauxhall fashion scout

POSTED BY PORTOBELLO SPY AT 16:59 0 comments

THURSDAY, 18 SEPTEMBER 2008

C6o, C9o, GO!